MONTPELIER

Two still alarms called out the fire department yesterday afternoon, the first time to the house of Isaac Stecker and the second time to the Montpelier house. In both instances, there was no fire, though smoke filled the rooms because of lack of drafts in stove and chimney. A third alarm, last evening, was for fire in a rag pile belonging to the Montpelier Iron & Metal Co.

Plans for commencement week at the high school are practically completed, the program opening Friday night, June 12, with the junior prom. Of the speakers at the graduation exercises, Miss Helen Blanchard is valedictorian and Miss Madge Warren salutatorian.

Miss Helen Ryle was given a miscellaneous shower last evening at her home on Barre street, in honor of her approaching marriage to Julian O. Goodrich. The funeral of Mrs. William Richard Lynch was held yesterday afternoon from her late home and was private. Rev. Homer A. Flint officiated. The bearers were Fred D. Long, Fred E. Gleason, George K. Putnam and Ray W. Huse. Interment was in Green Mount cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Clema F. Rodney was held from St. Augustine's church yesterday afternoon, Rev. W. J. O'Sullivan officiating. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery. The bearers were Joseph Lamberson, Peter Badord, Jerry McCormick and Peter G. Dewey.

The third degree was conferred upon a class of 40 candidates at a meeting of Montpelier council, Knights of Columbus, last evening. State Deputy Judge Powers of Binghamton, N. Y., and his staff did the work. He was assisted by State Deputy Cosgrove of St. Johnsbury and District Deputy Daniel T. Donnelly of this city. A banquet at the Pavilion followed the work, about 200 being present.

COL. ROOSEVELT BLOCKS AVENUE

Two Policemen Have Job Controlling Crowd When Former President Visits Publishers.

New York, May 22.—Colonel Roosevelt arrived in town yesterday to spend his first day in New York for seven months. He expected to spend a great part of the day, he said, buying clothes for his son's wedding, after which he planned to see his publishers, meet a number of Progressive leaders and visit the American Museum of Natural History. Late in the afternoon he intended to go to his editorial offices.

A crowd of several hundred persons cheered the returned explorer as he left the Scribner building at 597 Fifth avenue, and it took two policemen to press back those who gathered about his auto.

There's No Corn That "GETS-IT" Won't Get

No More Fussing, Plasters, Salves and Corn Pains—Try the New Way.

"Just look at the way that corn comes off!" That's what you'll say when you try wonderful "GETS-IT" on that corn you've tried so long to pry off your foot. It's easy to apply "GETS-IT"—one, two, three, and it's done!

Madam, For Those Corns That Make You Jump Out of Your Shoes, Try Wonderful "GETS-IT."

The corn begins to shrivel, away she goes, surely, absolutely. A few drops will do it. "GETS-IT" never makes toes red and raw. Corn pains go! It means the end of cutting and gouging of corns, the end of sticky plasters that don't work anyway, the end of salves that eat up your toes; no more "harness," or fusing. Try "GETS-IT," the new, sure way, for corns and callouses.

"GETS-IT" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

How the Earth Looks at an Altitude of Four Miles.

In the May American Magazine Augustus Post writes an article entitled, "Experiences of an Airman." The highest point that Mr. Post ever reached was four miles. Following is his description of how the earth looks from that altitude:

"For every mile's ascent, 96 miles of view open out, so that at the highest point I have reached, more than four miles, one could see 200 miles on the earth's surface in every direction, unless low hanging clouds lie between the aeronaut and the rest of humanity. Sometimes like fields of polar ice, sometimes opal and rose and gold, sometimes crimson with sunset glow, it is a wonderful thing to see the upper side of a sunset! The floor of clouds, ever shifting, ever taking on more varied shapes, moves beneath you, or you rise through a high floating one, in a brief white solitude. One side of the cloud may be red above the last rays of the sun, while waves of orange, purple, and sulphurous yellow stretch across to the cold blues of the east and the silver splendor of the moon; for it is at full moon that long distance balloon races are always arranged to take place. Here and there fountain like forms rise from the mass stretching beneath you and curl back like giant flowers; they are currents of hot air breaking through the cloud bank from below.

"Your pulse rate rises; your respiration grows faster, perhaps your hands and feet and a trifle numb, as the barograph needle rises—indeed by this time it has risen above the card entirely, for the instruments commonly in use record only to 16,000 feet, and is making its mark on the metal of the cylinder; in time it will leave the cylinder altogether.

"If you open a bottle of water, the air that has been confined at a lower level pops out as if you were opening a bottle of charged water. Going higher still, for men have reached an altitude of seven miles, the air is so thin that one must take along oxygen to breathe, the pressure at sea level being 15 pounds. Up here you are subjected to only half the pressure; you feel lighter than cork; the nerves are drawn taut. If you poke a pencil or your finger into your skin, the indentation will remain just like making a hole in a piece of putty. Doctors call this 'pitting,' and on the surface of the earth they take it as a proof that life is extinct. There is less 'mountain sickness' than one would think, judging from the nausea felt on the high peaks of earth, but then in mountain climbing there is great physical exertion, exhaustion even, and here there is absolute calm—nothing to do till to-morrow, and that seems a long way ahead, with no breeze, no sound, no motion, save as some movement of your own jars the basket a trifle."

On the Care of Children's Feet

THE child begins life no bigger than a minute, and then proceeds to grow faster than the flying seconds.

His shoes, when the time comes for his first ones, must be soft and supple and roomy. Soft, to soothe his tender skin; supple, to give to his every muscle; roomy, to allow for his rapid growth.

The covering that the children of nature used for their feet was the moccasin. It has all three virtues. It is the most healthful shoe baby can wear.

As he advances in years and is able to walk outdoors, the Plastic Last, which is the durable application of the moccasin idea, will guide his footsteps straight and make his feet strong and sound.

More about the care of children's feet in the catalogue. Sent immediately on request. And all packages sent prepaid within 24 hours of the receipt of order.

SULPHUR FOR POWDERY SCAB.

Growers of Seed Potatoes Urged to Use This Treatment in Addition to Formaldehyde.

On account of the possibility of infection with powdery scab, the U. S. department of agriculture is now recommending all potato growers to treat their seed potatoes with sulphur. This is made expedient by the fact that infected seed potatoes have been shipped out of Maine, where powdery scab now exists. Recent tests justify the department's scientists in recommending a thorough dusting with flowers of sulphur after the potatoes have been cut, as a precaution against the disease, but the treatment is by no means intended to take the place of formaldehyde as a general disinfectant. The department advises the use of both formaldehyde and sulphur.

Before cutting, the potatoes should be soaked for two hours in a solution of one pint of formaldehyde to 30 gallons of water. They should then be allowed to dry quickly either in the open or while spread out on a clean floor. This is known to be effective against common scab and black leg, and should therefore be employed in all cases. Whether it is equally effective against powdery scab is doubtful and for this reason the use of sulphur is strongly advised in addition. The potatoes should be cut first and then dusted thoroughly with flowers of sulphur. A general use of this treatment is advised for Maine.
